A RESUME OF THE DOINGS AND THE OMISSIONS OF THE

General Conference of the Methodist Epis. copal Church South-Divorce-Intemperance-Tobacco-Name-Etc.

NASHVILLE, May 30, 1882. The Methodist Episcopal Church South s next to the largest of all the Methodist bodies in the world. It has a larger membership than all the British Methodist bodies put together, and nearly as large a membership as the combined Methodism membership as the combined Methodism of immoral conduct. This effort, of course, of the United States, exclusive, of course, of the great leading body, the Methodist Episcopal Church. In the South it out church's work were, however, received with favor and acted upon enthissatically, tion, both in numbers and influence, and it is pushing out toward a prominent position in the machinery, but a move ious affairs of our nation, and it is not surprising, therefore, that such deep and widespread interest should have been felt in its General Conference, which has just cussions and votes. Its practical fruits are would give me pleasure to use my in number of important Church offices, and information will be best mer, permaps, my dry and tedious details, but by a general revisw, such as will be attempted in

The Nashville Conference had its lights and its shadows, its diversities and its griefs. There were times when it was con-vulsed with laughter, and other times when it melted into tears. Of the events of a pathetic nature by which it was marked, the most touching and solemn was the sudden death early in the session of its able, honored and venerable Secretary, Dr. T. O. Summers, though scarcely less affecting was the scene enacted when its senior and other times. enacted when its senior episcopate, Bishop Paine, crowned with 65 years of faithful ministerial service, stood up to announce his retirement to the rank of a superannu-ate. Another pall of gloom fell upon the Conference toward its close, owing to the death of the wife of Rev. John A. Thompson, a delegate from North Alabama. These events will long be remembered by those who had a place in the Conference, and two of these strength will be a superior of the conference, and two of the conference, and two of the conference, and two of the conferences. and two of them at least will tend to make that body a memorable one in the history of the church. Aside from these the only really unpleasant thing that occurred dur-friends, and there are some high in author. after that that Methodist preachers are ity who think he is being bitterly persecuted. Bishop Kavanaugh holds this view. Whether the Book Committee did the same of th agent so heavily is, with many, an open question, but the Conference certainly did right in hearing the doctor in his own de-That defense was able and adroit, if not convincing. It will doubtless be printed in pamphlet form and circulated throughout the church, which event all lovers of fair play should give it a careful reading. The Conference gave its opinion directly or indirectly, and with a greater or less degree of clearness, on a great variety of subjects. It touched the woman question, and handled it, too, with great care, for it succeeded in favor ing both sides of the controversy. It would not change the discipline so as Egyptology has furnished admirable matto make women eligible for election to the office of Sunday-school Superintendter for the romance-maker, but in the disents, but it did give them permission to go ahead and raise all the missionary money they could, and, as an inducement to creased effort in this direction, kindly offered to take charge of the money so collected, and relieve the fair sisters of all re sponsibility for its disbursement. In other

ords, it made the Woman's Missionary Society auxiliary to the parent Missionary ON THE SABBATH QUESTION It expressed itself in a petition to Congress against the distribution, transportation and had neither lost color or shape. delivery of mail matter on that day. Its action on the subject of temperance was not so pronounced as some had hoped it the lyre. What are these flowers? asks would be. It was asked to amend the General the botanist. With magniying glass each Rule so as to prohibit not merely drunken petal, stamen, and leaf is examined. Dr. ness and the use of intoxicating liquors as beverage, as at present, but its manu paragraph in the Discipline, inveighing are frail, fragile, brittle things. An effort to they are as fresh as if culled but yesterday offenders of this class to be tried for immoral conduct was voted down by a large the flower beds of this earth, and there is majority, and there were, indeed, a goodly number of delegates who thought the Abyssinia. Had Linneus only been alive, natter should be let entirely alone. On how he would have reveled as he botanized the question of the marriage of persons over this field of mummics. Packed away orced for other causes than the one Scriptural ground of adultery, the Conference t disfavored the marriage of such persons and was unanimously of the opinion that in contracts where either party was of this class no Methodist preacher could con- the fruit, and scoopings out evidently made scientiously tie the knot. The Committee

Recommended the appending to the mar- saw for the first time the footprints of anriage ceremony of a foot note to this effect, but the Conference declined to take such pronounced action as that, out of consideration, probably, to the many esteemed fellow-citizens now well entered, or just entering, upon a second matrimonial venture, to whose standing and peace of mind such a foot note might be a menace. The question of amusements the Conference took hold of with a vim. It looked at first as though matters would be made so hot for worldly-minded members of the Church that there would soon be, on the part of this large and respectable element of Methodists, either a general flocking to the altars for prayer, or else a general stampede to other churches of a more liberal type. Strange to relate, however, the Conference left this matter just where it found it. From the advanced legislation suggested when it was proposed to make the General Rule which forbids the taking of such diversions as cannot be used in the name of the Lord, to specify public dancing and theater-going, and when a change in the discipline was recommended by one of the standing committees, which interdicted not these simply, but parlordancing and the circus-from the vir tuous legislation suggested by these propositions, and the attitude of courage as sumed when a committee was appointed to investigate Samuel Couples, Louis, on the charge that since his election as delegate he had allowed the tripping of the "light fantastic" in his dwelling, to the low plane of "do-nothingism" was a long jump; but the Conference took it and there the matter rests. To the proposition to amend the General Rule, the com mittee recommended non-concurrence. The Since then have I journeyed fast and fain Committee of Investigation in the case of Mr. Couples discovered that he had already been spoken to by his pastor, and ready been spoken to by his pastor, and that therefore no further action was necessary; while the proposed change of the discipline referred to was left to sleep the sleep of peace, with many other wholesome of the Charterhouse of Perth." sleep of peace, with many other wholesome nmendations, which the Conference in its haste to adjourn had not time to take from the table. At its present cost it is relawhich it was introduced it created great merriment; in the other forms in which it came into view it appeared to be with many of the brethren quite a serious business, requiring constant and dilligent application. The laugh came in when a delegate brought forward a resolution rendering all over 30 years of age who used tobacco in any form ineligible for admission to the church. This resolution was referred to an appropriate committee, whose AVING REMOVED TO MORE COMMODIOUS premises, we have enlarged our stock. We ferred to an appropriate committee, whose report upon it deprecated the intemperate use of the article but thought no special logislation called for. Another subject the Conference touched was the revised New Testament. The revised text, it appeared, had been used in the Sunday school publications of the Church. The Conference was prepared to vote almost unani-mously that such use must be discontinued, but was relieved from the necessity for such action by the assurance of the Sunday-school Secretary that he had already discontinued it of his own accord. Thus is this invaluable help to Bible study, the triumph and glory of the Christian scholar-ship of the century, wounded again in the house of its friends. An effort was made to amend the discipline so as to give

The members of the church for the supfailed, as also did all efforts to change or modify the Presiding Eldership. Proposi-tions toward the enlargement of the shows the Conference to have been alive to the progressive spirit of the age, is the action it took in providing for the appointion it took in providing for the appointion it took in providing for the appointing to the appointing to the appointing the content of the age, is the action in the age and it is took in providing for the appoint. tion it took in providing for the appointment of a Commissioner to travel through the church to collect money for the aid of colored men aspiring to be ministers of the grant of the consult. These movements reflect great try road, "did you see a bicycle pass here just now?" "No, I didn't see no kind of sickel, mister, but just now I seed a wagon wheel runnin' away with a man. E. Church, Dr. Ridgway, suggested: "Who knows but that old Santa Claus may drop-" "the fact is he needed it a." sembled in that Christmas conclave the ripe apple of organic union! Whether or not the Conference showed as much good sense in the steps it took toward changing the name of the church, as in some other matters, is questionable. Why not wait the remainder of the church as in some other matters, is questionable. Why not wait the remainder of the church as in some other matters, is questionable. Joseph Hurtado and Simon Raten to be Hanged on Wednesday, July 26th. Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock was the time set for pronouncing the death sentence on Simon Raten, for the murder of James Lansing, and Joseph Hurtado, for the murder of Jose Estuardo. Long before the appointed hour the Court-room was filled with a large crowd of spectators. Sheriff Heilbron and his deputies came into the Court-room with the two criminals a few moments before 10 o'clock. The prisoners both appeared somewhat excited, and neither exhibited that don't-care air which they did during their trial. Both men looked paler than usual, and it was evident from their appearance that their confinement was wearing upon them. The attorneys of the defendants occupied seats beside them at the bar. Elwood Bruner, counsel for Raten, and C. T. Jones, counsel for Hurtado, filed motions for the ar-rest of judgment and for new trials. Their motions were overruled. C. T. Jones, on be-half of Hurtado, filed an affidavit complain-ing of the illegality of taking the testimony of one witness—a sick woman—when the

> Los Angles, June 5th.—A case of criminal assault at El Monte has just come to light. Miss Bertie Tipton of this city attended a May-day ball there on the eve of May 1st. The next morning, about day-ORDER OF COURT.—Judge R. C. Clark, in Department One of the Superior Court, yesterday ordered that the names of seventy-five jurors be drawn, and a venire thereupon issue returnable July 6, 1882.
> May 1st. The next morning, about day-light, her brother-in-law, Ed Mays, coaxed her to go over to his house, and on the way committed the crime. She is only 14 years of age, and he is 25. She kept the affair quiet for a while, under the fear of Mays' threat to take her life if she told. Her mother finally got hold of the matter, and Saturday a warrant was sworn out for Mays arrest, but he has not yet been caught.

Rallroad Progress. SALT LAKE, June 5th.—The western end of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad is nearly completed to Salt Lake, which connects the city with the Pleasant valley coal fields, 110 miles distant. Word was received here to day that all the force possible would be put on the Colorado and Utah divisions,

This is at least four months in advance of the OREGON. The Election. PORTLAND, June 5th.—The election is being conducted very quietly, though both parties are working very hard. The weather is fine all over the State, and a very full vote will be polled. Four out of the five ballots are being scratched. (SECOND DISPATCH.) PORTLAND, June 5th .- The vote to-day was light, but showed an increase in this city of 900 over the vote of two years ago. The smallest precinct had 709 votes. Twenty-eight names were on each ticket; hence no returns can be received before daylight. Considerable scratching was done on county officers. The majority of this county is usu the State's majority, as the remainder of the State is about equally divided. The Democrats generally concede the re-election of George for Congress. His majority two years ago in this county was 1,157. The Republi-can estimate of the majority this year is

MEN OF THE HOUR.

EARL SPENCER, THE NEW LORD-LIEUTENANT OF IRELAND.

Earl Spencer, the new Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, has held the position twice before. He was born October 27, 1835, and married, in 1858, Charlotte Frances Frederick, third daughter of Frederick Seymour (fifth son of Lord Hugh Seymour), who is one of the most beautiful women in England. He was first appointed Lord Lieutenant of Ireland in 1869, and made a creditable record in that position. He is not a man of great brilliancy or force, and his selection, like that of Lord Frederick Cavendish for Chief Secretary, was
